THE GOVERNMENT AND STATES'

RIGHTS. Republicans in the lower house of Congress, led by Chairman Tawney of the Committee on Appropriations. have devised a shrewd scheme of nullifying the odium which has come to their party recently on account of the doctrine lately proclaimed by Secretary Root, as the monthpiece of the President, to-wit: "That if they did not exercise their powers and duties in conformity with the ileas of the administration, constructions would be found for the constitution which would deprive the States of authority and place it with the National government where it would be exercised according to administration ideas," Chairman Tawney says that instead of the Federal government invading the rights of the States, the latter are intruding their affairs upon the National government, and that this condition is one that is costing the United States of the pros a vast and increasing outlay each serted in the record of the case a proyear, and he adds "The powers of test against "the misconduct of the the Federal government are defined learned district attorney

THE GROUNDHOG

The groundhog is dead. Never again will he appear, with or without a shadow. The second of February was as cloudy as it is possible for a day to be, and then think of the weather since! Good-by, old groundhog, we hope you have gone to look for the goosebone, the thin husks on the corn and the nuts the squirrels did not gather. We are done with you and hereafter we will try to depend upon the Hagerstown Almanae for our weather or start a weather bureau of our own. You are a fraud, old groundhog, and always were. Again, farewell.—Laurel, Md., Democrat.

The second of February was as cloudy passed the house, but will go back for a few amendments originating in the senate. Owing to the large antidispensary majority in the house the measure will undoubtedly become a law.

Think Charge of Young Girls is Hysteria.

A special from Gordonsville to the Washington Post says: Despite the fact that a reward of $1,000 has been offered for the arrests of the assailants of two young women students here January 30, a majority of the people including many of its representative citizens, are firm in the belief that there was no assault, the charges being altogether attributed to hysteria following the use of chloroform by the intruders.
